Novelty Meeting of Home & School

The novelty meeting of the local branch of the Home & School Association was held in the school building on Tuesday last with over 60 present. Promptly at 8:30 the chairman called the meeting to order and called on the secretary, Mrs. Jean Stearns, to read the minutes of the last meeting, which were passed as read. After which Mr. Frank Lait, as chairman of the delegation which attended the meeting of the divisional board of the Calgary school division, read out the brief, which was presented to that body on the subject of better school premises. Mr. Lait also gave his idea as to what may be the outcome of their meeting with the division board. Mr. F. Landmore, local representative on the board, also spoke and stated that was sure to come out of their attendance before the board until the present premises are made to come up to modern requirements or a new school building.

Principal Mumby at this point informed the meeting that he had recently received a letter from the secretary of the board stating that a fully qualified architect would visit the school within the next two weeks and go over the building and afterwards make suggestions as to required alterations or otherwise, to the divisional board. After much discussion it was decided that the Home & School organization would cater for the same and a committee of ladies volunteered to act as a committee to carry out the necessary arrangements.

Mrs. M. Charney was appointed as head of the committee. It was decided to omit the May meeting, as the next meeting will be the second Thursday in June. The chairman next introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Mr. H. McPhail, district agriculturist, who spoke on the many different kinds of clubs sponsored by the government, of which he was in charge. Mr. Mumby next showed a film which he had been showing to the students that day on the entry of the Ukrainians into Canada; their work and their winter festivities. This was a well worth while film in technicolor. After which the refreshment served lunch to all present and this ended another interesting and enjoyable evening.

A National Outlook

A GREAT DEAL HAS BEEN HEARD in Canada in recent years concerning the need for strengthening the bonds of unity between the provinces and promoting the growth of a truly national outlook. In a country where distances are as great as they are here, and where the climate and the nature of the land vary greatly in different localities, it is to be expected that there should be a tendency towards sectionalism and that national problems should be more numerous than in a more compact country. It could not be said that there is any great degree of intolerance among the people of Canada today, nor that there is a serious lack of national unity. However, anything which can be done to destroy such intolerance as does exist, and to promote unity of thought and purpose should receive public encouragement and support.

Would Promote National Unity

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Canadian Teacher's Federation a resolution was passed asking the collaboration of the Canadian Education Association in establishing a teacher's certificate which would be acceptable to all the provinces. This motion will come up for consideration at the annual convention of the Canadian Teacher's Federation in Halifax next August. Mr. Ebel Cupping of the Saskatchewan, president, said that the federation would like to see the establishment of a standard of teacher training high enough to meet the requirements of all the provinces. It would appear that such a move should do much to improve the standard of education throughout the country and to promote a broader outlook among both teachers and pupils. At the present time, because of the fact that teacher's certificates are acceptable only in the province in which they are issued, there is a relatively little movement of teachers from one section of the country to another.

Education Is A Powerful Force

There is no place where there is greater opportunity for planting the seeds of tolerance and understanding than in the school room, and standardization of teacher training should help to encourage a common viewpoint among Canada's future citizens. Many educationalists are of the opinion that efforts should also be made to eliminate the differences in curriculum between the school systems of the nine provinces. Such an undertaking would be best by many difficulties, but like the standardization of teacher's qualifications it would undoubtedly do much to promote understanding and to further Canadian unity in the years to come. Education is a powerful force in the building of any nation. In some parts of Canada too little interest and support have been given to the building of proper schools and to such matters as the training of teachers and the provision of adequate salaries for them. We are now in what is called a period of reconstruction, and it would be well to give a share of our attention to education at this time, and to encourage any efforts which are made to increase the contribution which our schools make to the welfare of the nation.

GARDEN NOTES

Most For Your Space

Where the vegetable garden is small, big growing things like corn, peas, tomatoes, potatoes and other large vegetables create a special problem. Unlike lettuce, spinach, beets, beans, carrots, etc., which can be fitted into rows only 12 to 15 inches apart, if necessary, these others take up twice or more than that room. Corn, tomatoes and potatoes need from 18 inches to 2 feet between hills or plants, and if one is to have enough green peas for a meal from each picking then at least 30 feet of row and preferably 30 feet, will be necessary.

Those gardeners with only a plot 20 feet or so each way usually select

MOUNTED POLICE SEEKING BANDSMEN FOR MUSICAL RIDE

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police is reviving its musical-ride feature and Inspector J. T. Brown, director of music, is on a recruiting mission to bring the R.C.M.P. band to authorized strength of 46 musicians.

Practices for the musical ride have already started at Rockcliffe Barracks after a call had been issued for volunteers for the "team" from the personnel of the force. A full complement of candidates has been obtained and both men and horses are already in training. The post-war revival of the ride will mean the return of the feature of a number of exhibitions and horse shows later this year. The R.C.M.P. band is slated to make a number of appearances at fairs in both Canada and the United States.

SEASON FOR DUCK HUNTING MAY BE SHORTENED THIS FALL

OTTAWA.—Canadian hunters will be able to go duck-hunting this fall despite a National Audubon society proposal in Washington for a one-year moratorium on hunting of migratory fowl in North America.

However, officials of the wild life protection division, mines and resources department, warn that the duck situation is becoming "rapidly worse."

The season "probably" will be shorter than last year and the "bag" reduced.

The department is awaiting reports on the winter's bird survey, upon which to base the quotas and length of season for 1947. Annual regulations are announced in July.

In January, 1946, there were an estimated 80,000 ducks in Canada compared with 105,000,000 for the corresponding period of the previous year. During the war when hunters were few, the duck population jumped to 140,000,000.

Last year's count of geese in Canada was approximately 1,500,000, a drop of some 500,000 from 1945.

Female Racketeers Pose As Servants

VANCOUVER.—The public relations department of the Unemployment Insurance Commission reported that female racketeers, posing as domestic servants, have been cheating housewives of considerable sums of money.

The women, who claim they are "recommended by Selective Service," apply for a job and ask for an advance of wages, officials said. Many householders have advanced as much as $25, and they see no more of the so-called household worker.

Canadian Beauties To Compete For "Miss America"

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J.—Beauties from nine provinces of Canada and from Mexico will compete for the first time this September in the annual Miss America beauty pageant.

The board of directors of the pageant said the new entrants would bring the field to about 60, making it the largest in the pageant's history.

More Profits For Livestock Producers Seen

BRANDON, Man.—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said that even at the present prices for coarse grains western farmers could make more money by feeding their grain to livestock than by selling it.

He told a service club luncheon that the government "could have coerced western farmers into producing more livestock products by keeping down the returns for their grain—even below the present level and "increasing the returns for livestock. But he is not coercing him to do anything."

Mr. Gardiner said he realized that many farmers did not have the labor to feed stock, but western producers of feed grain were entitled to their increase whether they desired to make more money by feeding hogs or not.

In order to prevent surplus production in Canada from depressing the domestic price he said that in future Canada would have to export 70 per cent. of its cheese, 50 per cent. of its apples, 50 per cent. of its wheat and all surplus canned and boneless beef. Additionally, it should produce enough hogs to be able to sell 50 per cent. to Great Britain if agriculturalists in the Dominion were to be prosperous.

The only two markets Mr. Gardiner said he knew of where these surpluses could be sold were the United States and the United Kingdom. The former had in the past retained its markets for its own farmers and there was every indication that it would continue to do so.

Great Britain, on the other hand, was urging Canada to supply its market and was prepared to contract for years in advance on quantity.

The present British government, he said, was carrying on a policy established in 1932 of guaranteeing returns to farmers in advance of seedling.

"In my opinion there is greater stability offered by the government under that policy than is offered to farmers elsewhere. We, by tying the sale of our surpluses to their plan will not only stabilize the returns on the sale of our surpluses but also on the product sold at home."

BRITAIN ANXIOUS FOR SOVIET TRADE

MOSCOW.—Britain is keenly interested at this time in re-establishing trade with Russia and would be extremely pleased if negotiations could be opened before long, it was learned.

At the same time, British sources denied as "utter nonsense" American reports from Moscow that Premier Stalin has offered Foreign Secretary Bevin economic aid for the United Kingdom.

The American reports on economic aid for Britain, purported to be a leak from the Stalin-Bevin interview in the Kremlin last week, caused a big stir here but a high British source said no request for aid had been made and none has been offered. Not a word has been disclosed officially here about the subjects discussed at the meeting.

British circles, however, make no secret of their desire for Anglo-Soviet trade. Statements have been made in the house of commons in London during the last few months on this, and the British delegation here for the foreign ministers' conference certainly would seize on any opportunity which offered to start the ball rolling.

Jack Miner National Wild Life Week

A Bill to make the week of April 10th, each year, known as the Jack Miner National Wild Life Week has been introduced in the House of Commons, Ottawa.

April 10th, was the birthday date of the late Jack Miner. It is the season of the year when the birds are returning to Canada so it is appropriate to name it the Jack Miner Wild Life Week. It is not meant to be a holiday season, but a period during which school children will study the value of Bird Life and its Conservation and a day when service clubs might sponsor bird house building campaigns etc., it would be a living tribute to the late "Uncle Jack" and at the same time the citizens would benefit from the results at no cost to the country.

The bill has been introduced by Hon. John R. MacNicol, M.P., Conservative and seconded by Mr. E. J. Bradette, Liberal and has the unanimous support of Hon. John Bracken, M.P., and the Conservative party; Hon. Bolton Low, M.P., and the Social Crediters, and Hon. Mr. M. J. Coldwell, M.P., and the C.C.F. party.

Editor's suggestion—Any reader interested in seeing this bill put through can help by writing or wiring the local member and saying so. The debate will likely take place April 16, 17, 18, right after the Parliamentary recess.

Price Ceilings Lifted From Long List Of Goods And Services

—Basic Necessities Controlled

OTTAWA.—The government lifted the price lid on roughly one-third of the goods and services still under control and expressed the hope that the move would bring prices "smoothly to the levels which now are appropriate."

As the house was debating the main bill to continue war-imposed controls, Finance Minister Abbott announced to the commons the fourth major step in the government's decontrol program, a step which extensively slims the controlled list.

This latest move in the direction of full decontrol, the fourth over the last year, becomes effective immediately.

In general, it removes these goods from the list of goods and services still under price ceilings:

1. All motor vehicles, all soft drinks, all coal, coke, charcoal and fuelwood and all footwear.
2. Leather itself, as well as hides, remain under control.
3. Foods such as turkey, ducks and geese in live or dressed form, certain non-standard kinds of sausage and some canned and cooked meats.

3. All types of candy and confectionery and cocoa beans and their derivatives and beverage preparations made from cocoa.

4. Wool in all its forms, whether in yarn, fabric or clothing.

5. Household equipment, such as cooking ranges, refrigerators of all kinds, domestic washing machines, domestic sewing machines and plumbing and sanitary equipment.

6. All chemicals and plastics, end products in the paper and paper products field, many containers and packing materials and a lengthy list of construction products.

Mr. Abbott said the list of goods and services which remained under control covered many of the basic necessities of life in food, clothing and shelter.

Referring specifically to rentals, Mr. Abbott said "acute" difficulties remained and these restrictions "must" be continued.

CANADA STILL HAS TIN CAN SHORTAGE

OTTAWA.—The shortage of tin cans in Canada is still "critical," the prices board said, announcing continuation of the conservation order for metal containers.

General effect of the order, the board said, will be to continue priority for reasonable and perishable fruit and vegetable packs, fish and meat products and certain essential chemicals.

Most canned fruits and vegetables should continue in adequate supply, although supplies of many less essential products will be limited as a result of the shortage of tin and steel for the manufacture of cans.

RESTORING PORTS

MOSCOW.—The Soviet ministry of merchant shipping has approved a plan to develop Russian merchant shipping this year. Black Sea and Baltic ports and a number of important shipyards are to be restored and developed and a larger freight tonnage handled.

CO-ORDINATION OF ARMED SERVICES

OTTAWA.—A further step in co-ordination of Canada's armed services was announced with the approval of a plan to pool the transport resources of the navy, army and air force.

Under the plan, announced by defence headquarters, the army will assume responsibility for the procurement, storage and major repair of vehicles and mobile engineering equipment. Each service will, in most cases, provide its own drivers and carry out maintenance and minor repairs of its vehicles.

UNITED STATES STILL CONTINUE SUGAR CONTROLS

WASHINGTON.—The senate completed action on compromise legislation continuing sugar allocation and price control until next Oct. 31. The measure now goes to the White House.

The controls would have expired if congress had not acted. The house of representatives earlier had approved the measure.

MARSHALL IN MOSCOW—Standing with serious men at the doorway from the main ballroom, U.S. secretary of State Gen. George C. Marshall, wearing a Russian decoration, is shown scanning the festivities of the first formal dinner to the Big Four foreign ministers before leaving. Secretary of State Marshall was later reported as being deeply displeased with the lack of progress of the council of ministers in deliberations on the German and Austrian treaties.

Wheat Needs For Europe Unchanged

OTTAWA.—Pessimistic reports on the condition of winter wheat seeded last fall in the United Kingdom and continental Europe indicate that European wheat requirements in the 1947-48 crop year may be just as heavy as in the current year, and perhaps "another year of shortages" in the affected countries, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported.

"Should the winter-kill prove to be of serious extent and the current wet weather further delay spring seedling," the bureau said in its monthly review of the world wheat outlook, "there may be ample grounds for assuming another year of shortages in affected countries."

"Over and above the weather factors, too, it is unlikely that all deficits of draught power, labor, suitable seed and fertilizers can be made good within the next year or two, and any lack of these items is certain to have a negative effect upon production."

"In India, a moderately good wheat crop now is being harvested, but some imports will still be required." The report said there were no indications yet that Australia and the Argentine will seed increased acreages of wheat and it was too early to venture any estimate as to probable 1947 yields in these countries. In Canada, soil moisture conditions in the spring wheat areas were reported good but here too, it was much too early to hazard a production estimate.

"The only plausible assumption at this stage, and this is also true of Australia and the Argentine, is that the average acreage will prevail."

SEEDING GOVERNS DELIVERY QUOTAS

OTTAWA.—Trading Minister MacKinnon announced in the commons that until further notice seasonal delivery quotas necessary for wheat and other grains will be based on seeded acreage rather than the authorized acreage procedure adopted in 1941.

Wheat authorities outside the house said their interpretation of the new method indicated it would make little difference to farmers but would greatly facilitate administration.

END OF JAPAN'S HOUSE OF PEERS

TOKYO.—Japan's house of peers has formally died after a half-century of aristocratic approval of Japanese imperialism. Adjournment of the 92nd regular diet session—last under the old 19th century constitution—ended the life of the house of peers. Under the new constitution, effective May 3, it will be replaced by a house of councillors whose 300 members will be elected April 20.

"DUST BOWL" BECOMES RAGING TORRENT, FIVE DIE—Floods in Western Canada have taken five lives and the usually dry southern Alberta, the southern route of the Trans-Canada highway at Barnwell, 30 miles from Lethbridge, became a raging river, submerging fields and forcing families to flee. When the water hit the C.P.R. line, 100 feet of track were washed out. Here torrent rages through railway line.

PEACE DEFENDS ON INDIANS, NOT BRITISH, IS VIEW OF MOSLEM LEADER JINNAH—Hopes for peace and unity in India now depend largely on the Indians, in the British view. M. A. Jinnah, Indian Moslem leader, left, agrees and has tried to stop recent Hindu-Moslem violence. Sir Stafford Cripps, right, largely responsible for Britain's independence plan for India, now seeks revision of empire trade as political relations change.

Discussion On Control Bill May Be Shortened

OTTAWA.—The possibility has arisen that the government might have to apply the rarely-used procedure of "closure"—the automatic cutting-off of a debate—to end the long discussion now brewing in the commons over the administration's omnibus control bill.

By this method, the government is enabled to bring a debate to an end within 48 hours after closure is applied.

Parliamentary sources stressed that if the government used closure it would be done only as a last resort if the debate appeared to be crowding the May 15 deadline for the expiration of the Emergency Transitional Powers act, under which the wartime controls now are being continued.

The use of closure would save the government the necessity of asking parliament for another extension of the Emergency Powers act, a request which government spokesmen already have said they wish to avoid. The act originally was to have expired Saturday but was extended to May 15.

Developments in the chamber indicate the control debate will be long and bitter and may easily extend to May 15 and possibly beyond. Thus far, the legislation has got only as far as the resolution stage and has been debated heavily every step of the way through that phase of its passage.

PRECIPITATION IN THREE PRAIRIE PROVINCES GOOD

(By The Canadian Press)

Autumn rains coupled with unprecedented winter snow storms have combined to form an advance moist bulwark against dusty drought, western Canada's grain and stock men's bare precipitation statistics show.

The department of transport, meteorological division, reports precipitation throughout all major grain areas of the west far in excess of last year. During the period Aug. 1 to Feb. 28, precipitation in Alberta showed a 50 per cent. increase above normal. The increase in Saskatchewan was 40 per cent. and in Manitoba 36 per cent.

Twice the normal fall was registered in southern Alberta during the seven-month period while southeast Saskatchewan marked up a 60 per cent. increase. Northern sections of the latter province received a 35 per cent. boost in north central Alberta and southwest Saskatchewan, a 25 per cent. above normal peak was reached.

Smallest departures from former averages occurred in Manitoba with western sections receiving 20 per cent. more and eastern areas slightly over 10 per cent.

Severe snow in Alberta during November, with somewhat lighter falls across southeast Alberta and southwest Saskatchewan, brought several record precipitation marks. Four times the usual amount fell in southern Alberta, and two to three times the normal in central Alberta and southern Saskatchewan. Smaller increases ranging from 10 to 20 per cent. were registered in northern areas of Saskatchewan and Alberta. Manitoba reported small deficiencies. Record heavy snow storms during December, January and February greatly boosted averages in southern sections of the grain region. Jumps of 50 to 80 per cent. occurred in north and south Alberta and north and southeast Saskatchewan. The three months registered 30 to 40 per cent. leaps in central Alberta and western Manitoba.

WHALING FLEET JUNKED AT COAST

VICTORIA.—Victoria's once famous whaling fleet was destined for the junk yard following the auction sale of the five remaining vessels of the bankrupt Consolidated Whaling Corp. Ltd., here.

The Norwegian-built ships brought $1,365 from three bidders.

The ships were built 20 to 40 years ago and were originally valued at $50,000.

Two of the purchasers said the ships would be made into by broken up into scrap. Max Lohrbrunner, representing the Deep Sea Fishing Co., said he might use his as a fishing station.

The five whalers were brought around the horn from Norway 40 years ago and for many years did extensive whaling off the British Columbia coast.

CANADA TO BUILD LONG-RANGE RADAR STATIONS IN NORTH

OTTAWA.—External Affairs Minister St. Laurent announced in the Commons that Canada plans to build two low-frequency, long-range radar stations in her Far North this summer as aids to aerial and marine navigation. He said it was possible that a third would be constructed in 1948, but did not give any locations.

He disclosed that the stations would be operated in conjunction with others on United States territory, presumably Alaska, and that American aid in technical personnel had been offered "until sufficient trained Canadian personnel are available for replacement."

Giving another indication of Canada's professed intention of developing her Northland on a broad front, Mr. St. Laurent said:

"The Government has decided to extend the existing navigational aids to increase the safety of air and sea travel by the establishment of low frequency 'Loran' stations in the North. Low frequency Loran (an abbreviation for long-range radar aid to navigation) is considered the best available method for meeting the requirements of the rapidly increasing world airways traffic and has been recommended by the Provisional International Civil Air Organization (Picao) as the standard aid to long-range navigation."

The announcement followed that made a short time ago by Reconstruction Minister Howe, who said that Canada would build nine weather stations in her Far North within the next three years. In that case, too, United States personnel will be used at first until Canadians are trained to take their place.

The one farthest north will be 600 miles south of the North Pole.

Defends Canadian Cheddar Cheese

LONDON.—Canadian cheddar cheese may not sound as romantic as Font D'Eveque or prove as tasty as ripened blue vinny but it is as good as any in nutritional value, says Dr. Edith Summerskill, Food Ministry Parliamentary secretary.

She defended the cheese which members of the House of Commons described as "mousetrap" and which prompted E. H. Keeling, Conservative member for Twickenham, to ask if Canada, with its enormous supplies of milk, "could be persuaded" to make some other cheese for export.

While other members resigned to the ration of two ounces of any cheese a week, listened wistfully. Keeling recalled ripe English cheddar, stored at least six months before marketing. He spoke sadly of Blue Vinny from Dorset, Caerphilly from Wales and Dunlop of Ayrshire.

"When Ben Gunn, stranded on Treasure Island, said 'man's the long night I've dreamed of cheese,' I do not believe for a moment that he ever dreamed of Canadian cheddar," said Keeling.

Keeling concluded with the lament: "Could we not have a little of the Pomme and Font D'Eveque from France, Port Salut from France and Belgium, Gruyere and Tilsit from Switzerland?"

C. S. Taylor, Conservative member for Eastbourne, said he understood from experts that "Canadian cheddar is very good cheddar, rather like the best English cheddar, and Australian cheddar is not quite so good." But they all sold for the same price, including specially good cheeses like Wensleydale.

Dr. Summerskill said she deplored that imported cheese had been called "mousetrap" as she could assure members "these cheeses all have the same nutritional value."

"They have not the same taste," growled Lt.-Col. Bromley Davenport, Conservative, Knutsford.

Coal Project To Manufacture Gas

PITTSBURGH.—A $120,000,000 project which conceivably can ensure the United States an adequate gasoline reserve for more than 2,000 years through coal synthesis was announced.

The project will start in a $300,000 "pilot plant" to be constructed near Libary, Pa., where Pittsburgh Consolidation has extensive holdings. If its operations prove coal synthesis for gasoline and gas commercially practical, a huge plant will be built at a cost estimated at $120,000,000 or more.

Construction of this plant would be started by the end of 1949 with commercial production foreseen for 1951. Raw coal for the project—which in its commercial form will consume 6,600,000 tons annually—will be drawn from Pittsburgh Consolidation's 100,000 acres of coal lands in western Pennsylvania. The coal will pour into the maw of giant converters at an estimated rate of 20,000 tons daily.

Pistol-Packing Grandma On Hunt For Gold

PHOENIX, Ariz.—A pistol-packing grandmother, clutching a tattered map of a lost gold mine, is waiting for a chance to sneak away and find it.

Mrs. Laura Branstetter Middaugh, 59, and her husband, William, 67, Joplin, Mo., are ready to go in search of the fabulously rich "Lost Dutchman Gold Mine." They don't want anybody following them, she said.

She carefully guarded the dog-eared map handed down from her great-great uncle, Jacob Wain, who dug and lost a fortune from the mine in Arizona's roaring pioneer days. She said the map showed where the gold was located.

Wain, known to the Indians as "Snowbeard," died in 1882 while visiting a woman friend in Phoenix. He had kept secret the location of his treasure trove. Since then countless gold-seekers have combed the treacherous mountains 40 miles east of here. Many of them have disappeared without a trace.

Mrs. Middaugh already has decided how to spend the gold.

"I'm going to build a home for the aged," she said. "Right here in Arizona, because that's where the gold is coming from."

The hair was reported cut from Napoleon's head while he was in exile at Saint Helena in 1816.

NEW SPICY SWEETS FOR SNACKS—A refrigerator cookie, like Bran Ginger Wafers is so easy to prepare, that you can go in for mass production. If your children take their lunch to school, these Ginger Wafers will be a nutritious sweet to fill out the menu. Or, when they come home from school, they will enjoy having a cookie with a glass of milk. This recipe is especially welcomed now, because it will help to save that precious sugar by using molasses.

Bran Ginger Wafers
 1 cup All-bran 2 teaspoons soda
 1 cup light molasses 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup melted lard 1/2 teaspoon allspice
 3 cups sifted flour 1 1/2 teaspoons ginger
 Mix together bran, molasses and lard. Sift flour, soda, salt and spices together. Add to molasses mixture; mix well. Knead and shape into rolls about 1 1/4 inches in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper, covering ends so that dough will not dry out. Chill in refrigerator until firm. Cut into thin slices and bake on ungreased cookie sheet in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 10 minutes. Yield: 10 dozen wafers (1 1/4 inches in diameter).

FAMOUS NUERNBERG TOYMAKERS ARE AGAIN PRODUCING POPULAR TOYS

NUERNBERG.—Children in many parts of the world shortly will receive toys unknown since Nazism hermetically sealed Germany off from the democratic countries in 1939.

The famous Nuernberg toymakers are retooling, and in some cases are back in production, with the blessing of the United States military government.

Four types, always popular among children and found only in Nuernberg, are coming off the lines. They are:

A miniature automobile which races to the edge of the table and turns back to safety as soon as its front wheels go over the edge;

A pocket-sized racing car with a visible, working differential, a tool kit, and wheels and tires which a child can change;

A car with brakes, clutch, reverse, neutral and four forward speeds; a "wonder" car in a garage with a telephone attached. When a child orders his car over the telephone, the garage doors fly open, the car emerges, stops upon command—then, upon another command, backs again into the garage and the doors slam shut.

Some of the toys already blue-printed—such as an electric train which will be operated by remote control with no visible wires or switches—will not be seen until patent protection is again available for the inventors.

Manufacturers are concentrating on toys in the medium-price range to catch the biggest export market possible. Officials insist the Germans are unafraid of competition from other countries.

Nuernbergers expect their greatest competition to come from the United States, Canada, and Britain, in that order. American toymakers have always produced a good but compact and high-priced line of toys.

Ernst Reimer, deputy Bavarian minister of economics for toys, said Canadian toymakers have always produced a large quantity of "guilt good toys" for export. It is felt, however, that the Canadian varieties will not conflict with Nuernberg specialties.

Research Bureau

Warns Heavy Drinkers

NEW YORK.—The national health research bureau said that an estimated 420,000 women in the United States "who drink too much" can be expected to "smash up" sooner than heavy male drinkers.

Alcoholics Anonymous has found that women who drink to excess often "go to pieces" at 30 while the average male who drinks too much lasts until he is 40, the bureau said.

One out of every seven of 3,000,000 excessive drinkers in the United States are women, according to the Yale school for alcohol studies, and at least 2,000,000 of the drinkers are "exposed to psychological damage."

To Give Country Independence

Lord Mountbatten, New Viceroy Of India, Has Hard Task Ahead

WHEN Lord Mountbatten took the oath of office as Viceroy on Monday, March 31st in New Delhi, the last phase of Britain's rule in India opened. It will close not later than June, 1948, by which date the United Kingdom Government is definitely pledged to hand over full power into Indian hands. Lord Mountbatten's mission as successor to Lord Wavell for this last phase was described by Mr. Attlee in the last India debate in the United Kingdom House of Commons as "a mission of fulfilment" of the United Kingdom Government's pledge.

The task awaiting the new Viceroy in New Delhi is of dimensions to call for the full play of his qualities. That task may be defined as smoothing the Indian path to independence.

To smooth the Indian path to independence, Lord Mountbatten will have to begin by settling two urgent and imperative problems, which are in fact two facets of the single dominating problem of reconciling the views of Hindus and Moslems.

The first problem is to ensure the peaceful working of the Constituent Assembly with the co-operation of both major communities in an atmosphere cleansed of mutual suspicion. To this end, a large measure of hope is reposed in the awaited response of Mr. Jinnah and the Moslem League to the Congress Party's latest appeal to them to enter the Constituent Assembly and share in the historic duty of framing India's first Indian Constitution.

The second problem is to place the interim central government on a stable basis. At present the Congress Party and the Moslem members of the interim government are not co-operating, and here again suspicion and divisions will have to be swept away. Only thus can there be an efficient central administration of India during the vital interim period.

Everything, therefore, seems to hinge on Lord Mountbatten's initial success in solving these two essential and urgent problems. It is felt that given such success as a working start, the Viceroy and the Indian leaders will find agreement as to the best ways and means of transferring final control.

But if much depends on the Viceroy, still more rests with the Indian leaders. It was with this in mind that Sir Stafford Cripps declared at the conclusion of his speech in the last India debate, "I would therefore urge upon the Indian leaders with all the force and sincerity at my command that they should seize this, the last and greatest opportunity for supreme statesmanship, through which they may bring happiness and prosperity to their own people and show the world they can not only solve their own problems but can also make a great contribution to world progress."

UNITED STATES FOOD PRICES NINETY-FIVE PER CENT. OVER 1939

WASHINGTON.—The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported recently that on Feb. 15 overall food prices were 95 per cent. above August, 1939, 31 per cent. above a year ago, and only three per cent. below the all-time high of last December following President Truman's general decontrol order.

It said prices dropped 0.8 per cent. from mid-January to mid-February, but that they probably have jumped again since then. It said the decrease undoubtedly would be wiped out by sharp increases on the wholesale market. Wholesale prices jumped about eight per cent. between Feb. 1 and March 15.

B.L.S. attributed the decrease chiefly to declines in eggs, dairy products and meats. But these decreases were more than offset by a rise in fruit, vegetable, cereal and bakery products.

Air School At Rivers, Man.

Units Of The Three Forces To Train In Combined Air Operations

OTTAWA.—Canadian Army and Air Force units, together with Navy personnel, will be trained in combined air operations commencing next Fall. It was revealed recently by Hon. Brooke Claxton, Minister of National Defence. Details of Canada's Joint Air School, shortly to be established at Rivers, Man., were released for the first time. The highly complex problems of land-air defensive and offensive action will be studied and taught at one large school where Navy, Army and Air Force are to be completely intermingled. In the case of the Army this will eventually result in producing a force capable of operating in any type of country regardless of lack of normal means of transport.

When Army and Air Force components are set up for training about September 1, Rivers will see a revival of its wartime importance, when it was the home of the R.C.A.F.'s largest navigation school under the British Commonwealth Air Training plan. Already army engineers are working at the camp, while the Paratroop Training Centre is expected to move from Shilo in about six weeks. Full use of existing airport and building means that relatively little new construction is necessary except for such specialized paratroop installations as mock fundages and a jumping tower.

An advantage is achieved, in that every phase of aerial combined operations can be taught personnel of the three Services in one co-ordinated school. This compares with numerous airborne schools of various types in the United States and in the United Kingdom where, owing to size, the advantages of a single training centre are lost.

The portion known as the Army Component will have a strength of approximately 650, while the Air Component will be about 765. In addition, there will be about 375 men undergoing training at all times, most of whom will come from the Army.

The Army side divides into two main groups, composed of the Air Support Group which concentrates on offensive air support and the Airborne Group which will deal with such questions as air portability, air supply and maintenance, and parachute instruction. There will also be a Tactical Research and Development Wing which will work out the complicated problems of loading transport aircraft and gliders, clearance of equipment for carriage by air and the technique of dropping equipment. In addition to such items as jeeps, light armoured vehicles and guns, complete mobile workshops will be carried aloft in the future by Canada's Army and Air Force. In addition, the Air Force is faced with the problem of moving by air their normally semi-static ground maintenance equipment.

An Air Support Signals Unit will be equipped with such items as signal contact equipment, signals, gliders and used to control tactical aircraft operating in support of ground forces.

A Glider Section will serve the whole school with American Waco gliders, expected to arrive in the near future.

The Royal Canadian Air Force Component will form a Tactical Wing composed of a fighter-reconnaissance squadron, a tactical bomber squadron and a transport and glider-towing flight. In addition, an air observation post squadron, flown by artillery officers, will be maintained here. Sections also included in the Tactical Wing will be maintenance, radar, ground control equipment, signals, meteorological, filter and operating rooms. The Air Force will train Army glider and light aircraft pilots. Eighteen new glider planes are expected in May for this purpose.

Training will proceed in two phases with the first, covering glider and air transported operations, to be followed by airborne training which includes parachuting. The Navy will send squadrons to train in Army Co-operating work and will also provide instructors who will train the other arms in the function of carrier-based aircraft in support of the land offensive.

Bulk of the trainees will consist of soldiers drawn from the field components of the Army Active Force. Units will first send selected candidates for training who will return to their regiments to pass on the basic principles. After this has been completed, whole companies at a time will go for their complete air school training. Not only Infantry, but every other arm including Armoured Corps, Artillery, Engineers, Army Service, Medical, Ordnance and R.C.M.P. will eventually become air-minded.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

"GYPSY GOLD"

By LILLIAN M. MITCHELL

"GOSH, Julie! You are easy—giving that gypsy gal a five dollar bill for that Gypsy gold! If that's gold, I'm a busy blonde. But if it should turn the trick, let me have it next, eh?"

Julie Davis nodded. "I didn't buy it from the gypsy. I just crossed her palm with gold—and that in the old days would have been five dollars. But it won't do all the work. She said to do all I could myself and then leave the rest to gypsy gold. Well, me, I'm going downstairs to the drug store and buy a big bottle of perfume, and Anthony—he does like fragrance, Cordelia. Men do."

"Sure. Men do. Even rich fellows like Anthony who waste three years of a gal's time. I give up. He likes you. He has plenty to marry on. But maybe you're let things sag. A girl has to help some, you know."

Julie looked out the office window. "Yes, I've just waited. Of course it wouldn't be any use to run after Anthony. He wouldn't have one of those bold girls. But me—I haven't done a thing to get him. I'm going out this noon, Cordy, and get a big bottle of that May Dawn perfume and a new hat and new gloves and shoes and a snippy little collar and cuff set."

"Say! You're going to spend all your savings?" asked Cordelia. "I am, Cordy. I'm going to make every effort myself and leave it to gypsy gold to do the rest just as the gypsy girl told me."

At five that night Julie was prompt in leaving the office. Because it was raining, the other girls all stayed at their desks a few minutes to put everything in order. Julie, though tripped gaily out of the elevator and towards the magazine counter of the office building entirely aware of her new coat and shoes and gloves, her nose well aware of the expensive perfume that surrounded her like an aura.

"You don't look as if the weather had you 'downed,' Julie," Anthony greeted her in amazement. "You've been the only smiling face to come out of any elevator in the ten minutes I've been waiting. Kind of dolled up, aren't you? Want a cab?"

But as usual on rainy nights, no cab was to be had and so, shoulder to shoulder, they walked along cheerily until they came to a sidewalk grating that permitted a basement fan to get air. The heels of the new shoes slid unexpectedly between two of the metal strips.

"Ooo-o-oh!" screamed Julie. Anthony, both arms about her firmly, held her upright. "I have you, Julie. You're not hurt, are you? You didn't turn your ankle?"

Julie shook her head and stood her ground firmly, her eyes searching down in that dark space beneath the sidewalk grating. "I'm all right but I lost my gypsy gold piece," she said disconsolately.

He laughed. "Well, if that's all you lost, that's nothing!"

"Nothing?" she eyed him wide-eyed. "Nothing? Why Tony, it's everything, that gold piece. It's gypsy gold, Tony."

"Well, there's no way of getting down in there to get it, Baby. This grating is in for keeps and there's no opening in the basement except the ventilator fan. Come on."

Julie shook her head stubbornly. "I'll have to get down and fish it out again, Tony. I—I just have to get my gypsy gold."

"Obviously he got down on all fours and peered down into the dark hole. He borrowed an umbrella from a passerby and poked the glittering gold piece this way and that fruitlessly. Then the passerby with a glance at his watch said he must get along and Anthony returned the umbrella.

"Come on, Julie," he said coaxingly. "We can't get the thing out. It's in there for keeps. Come on, dear."

"Go to it," Julie said. "I'll paid five dollars for it, Tony. That is, I didn't really pay five dollars but I crossed the gypsy's hand with gold before she gave it to me. I—I have to have it, Tony."

"Well, great suffering cats!" he exploded turning up his coat collar, "if this thing was so darned valuable to you, why didn't you put it into your handbag instead of carrying it out loose in your glove! And such slippery gloves, too."

"Glace," murmured Julie softly, her eye seemingly glued to the gold piece below.

"Mister, we'll get the thing if you'll give us a half dollar for the job," said two newboys.

"Go to it," Julie said. "I'll give you a dollar if you're done in five minutes."

Speedily the boys thrust chewing gum into their mouths; grinning at each other they put the damp gum on the end of a long stick and poked.

"You're a useless little thing," Anthony said hunkily to Julie as they waited and watched.

She turned her eyes up to his. "Gee, you're a honest," he told her. "You smell so sweet and fragrant and you're such a little useless—losing that gold piece like that! What you need, Baby, is someone to look after you and your possessions. Suppose I hadn't been down now? Julie, Baby, are you going to give me the job?"

"What job?" she asked him gently.

"Of being your husband and looking after everything for you," he murmured.

She nodded meekly at the same moment the little boys handed Anthony the gold piece. He gave them a dollar and looked curiously at the gypsy gold.

"That girl sure skinned you, Baby," told her. "This is just brass, common brass."

She held out her hand for it smilingly. "Gypsy gold," she said. "The gypsy told me it was. Oh, hello, Cordy dear! What? My eyes look bright? Do they? Here, Cordy, is that piece of gypsy gold you wanted. I don't need it any more, you see."

"Well, I'll be confounded!" ejaculated Anthony in amazement as Cordelia passed along the wet sidewalk with the gypsy gold in her pocket. "I didn't know I was getting it for her! I never especially liked her anyhow. I thought I was getting it for you, Baby. What's that? You don't need it? Well, girls are certainly hard to understand, I'll say. There's only one thing that is easy to understand and that is, you need me to take care of you, Julie. When do I get the job, eh?"

And Julie, blissfully unaware that the new coat was damp and the pretty collar set already crumpled, looked up at him, the fragrant odor of May Dawn still clinging to her as if it were yet to be done in instead of already accomplished.

Deer Will Dance If Provided Music

LINDSAY. — According to M. H. McCallum, of Penelon Falls, deer like music. So much, in fact, that they will dance if someone obliges with a tune. If you want to prove it, says Mr. McCallum, take your harmonica into the woods, approach a deer and give forth. The deer will dance. It's that easy.

An early Roman writer tells how the Gauls of France made soap with tallow and wood ashes.

Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. This fine medicine is very effective for this purpose! For over 70 years thousands of girls and women have reported benefit. Just see if you, too, don't report excellent results! Ward's trying.

SIGHTED WOLF—SHOT SAME—First wolf Mrs. Archie Patterson ever saw is the one she killed with one shot from a .22 rifle, 100 yards from home, near Warton. Wolves are numerous in the area.

OYSTER IS THE "BETTER" MOUSETRAP—At last...a better mousetrap! In Courtney, B.C., a man picked up a sackful of oysters recently and brought them home. He left them on his porch overnight and one oyster apparently opened up for a breath of air and a look around. An inquisitive mouse investigated—snap. It was the long-sought better mouse trap but the discoverer refuses to divulge his name and shows no anxiety to have the world beat a path to his door.

Good Advice On Care Of Piano

Piano experts warn against keeping your instrument near any heating unit or in the direct rays of the sun. Like any fine furniture, the wood surface needs occasional cleansing to remove all accumulated wax and polish. Use a soapy cloth, well wrung out, and follow with a damp cloth wrung out of clear water, covering only a small area at a time when you work. Then wipe completely dry before applying new wax or polish. A small bag of camphor hung inside the piano helps prevent moths from destroying the felt. Have your instrument tuned and checked by a good service man at least once a year.

Northern Airports Will Be Valuable

Only yesterday it seemed that places like Southampton Island, Frobius Bay, Goose Bay and Gander were destined always to remain lonely outposts, to be reached from "outside" only during the brief summer. But tomorrow—sooner than we think—they may be division points along one of the world's main traffic routes. While these northern airports are certainly no bargain just now from a commercial point of view, they are far from valueless national assets even today. And they may well become self-liquidating in the commercial sense before many years pass.—Winnipeg Tribune.

AREA OF JAPAN

The area of Japan proper, including the islands of Honshu, Shikoku, Kyushu and Hokkaido is less than the state of California. The islands cover 147,707 square miles.

JUST A LITTLE TOO MUCH—ISLAND FALLS, Man. — Andre Laurin, a fisher and trapper in the district for many years, discovered the ordeal of getting married was too much for him. He uttered the words that changed him from bachelor to benedict and then fainted in the arms of the bride and the best man.

Duck Quite Duckie

OTTAWA.—Ever hear of personality keeping a duck out of the roasting pan? That's the life history of Dickie, web-footed pet of Mr. and Mrs. Svend Gilberg of Ottawa.

The Gilbergs bought Dickie in the summer of 1939 with the idea of fattening him up for a Sunday roast later in the winter. But they didn't count on Dickie's personality.

Dickie's learned to caress the boss with his beak, to swim with the Gilberg children and to purr when they rubbed the back of his neck. He even got himself house-broken.

Do you have in-again, out-again ears?

Perhaps this happened to you when your doctor, or some wise friend, told you it would be a good idea to cut out tea and coffee...

DRINK POSTUM INSTEAD

But if someone says "Drink Postum instead," that really zings a hell!

Yes—Postum is a grand way to stop drinking tea and coffee if the caffeine in those beverages upsets your nerves, keeps you awake.

You can drink Postum any hour of the day or night—enjoy as much as you like, as strong as you like—and not miss a wink of sleep. Postum contains no caffeine, nor any other drug—can't affect heart or nerves or digestion.

Make Postum right in the cup, just by adding boiling water or hot milk. Costs less than 1¢ a serving.

Housecleaning Drives 'Empties' Into the Open

HOTSEWIVES JOIN SEARCH FOR E. B. BOTTLES

Hundreds of housewives in Albert's rural and urban districts are reported today to be cooperating in the extensive search to apprehend E. B. Bottles, missing from duty for several months.

"Bottles" commonly known by the full name of "Empty Beer Bottles" and also under the alias of "Empties," may be hiding out in closets, basements, corners or attics. Housewives in their spring cleaning drive are searching these favorite haunts of "Bottles" in an effort to bring the fugitive to justice. A reward of 20 cents per dozen for apprehension and recovery of "Empties" is offered by Deliveries Ltd.
 An acute situation still exists in regard to the shortage of bottles in brewing industry.

Deliveries Limited, Agents for Alberta Breweries, reports present shortages are due solely to "Bottles" disappearance from work. "Empties" cannot be replaced at this time and anyone knowing the whereabouts of "E.
 B. Bottles" is escorted to the nearest Deliveries Ltd. Depot and cash reward will be mailed immediately on recovery.

CASH REWARD

In Alberta cities, arrangements have been made for taking "Bottles" into custody and paying reward at the householder's home. At rural points local freight agents will see that "Bottles" is escorted "collected" to the nearest Deliveries Ltd. Depot and cash reward will be mailed immediately on recovery.

Comparison U.S. Canadian Taxes

Comparison of living costs in the United States and Canada is difficult, because in neither country does the cost-of-living index take account of taxes. Since taxes, direct and indirect, now form a major item of every family budget, the index figures, while valuable as an indication of the trend of prices of various necessities, are no longer a reflection of living costs.

Published here are five comparisons of the income taxes paid in Canada and the United States, at 1946 rates, by individuals receiving the same incomes and in the same circumstances as the U.S. dependents and marital status.

As space does not permit publishing estimates for each state in the union, the United States individual in each case is assumed to be living in the state of Minnesota.
 The rate on taxable income in that state begins at one per cent on the first $3,000 and rises to 10 1/2 per cent on amounts of income in excess of $20,000. Allowable deductions from gross income include federal income taxes paid in the taxation year and real estate taxes on Minnesota property, as well as usual deductions for medical expenses, business expenses, charitable donations, etc.

LET'S CHAT AWHILE

By "TALL OAK"

For the many Bible lovers who read this paper, our "chat" will take the form of a Christian testimony and at the same time afford us a little Bible searching. I believe you will enjoy the adventure of finding out what the testimony is.

I once lived in Ephesus, 2:12, and walked in Ephesus, 2:12. My conversation was in Ephesus, 2:12, but being brought to Ephesus, 2:1,
 and finding my prospects in Romans 3:10-20, were very bad. I called at Matthew, 11:28, and was conducted to Ephesus, 1:7, and dwell in Psalm, 64:10.

I heard of a mission being built for me at John, 14:2, by One who lived at Hebrews, 9:42. The house
 I sought for I found at 2nd Corinthians, 5:1. The house had but one knocker, which I found at Luke, 11:9-10, and one door which I found at John 10:9.

My address at present is at Ephresians, 2:8; call any day at Proverbs 8:34, and you will meet me as well as many others if you attend to what the servants say in Luke, 14:17.

When 1st Thessalonians, 4:16-17, is fulfilled I expect my home to be in Revelation, 22:1-5, and Revelation, 5:8, as the song I shall sing in the end of the world.

Christ placed a great deal of importance on the testimony of His followers. One day He said: "Whoever therefore shall confess (testify) of me before men, him will I confess (testify) also before my Father which is in heaven." Matt.
 10:32.

"That if thou shalt confess with the Lord Jesus, and believe in thine heart that God has raised Him from the dead, thou shalt be saved."

Salvation is as simple as THAT!

Word has been received by Mr.
 and Mrs. H. M. Ouellet that their son, P/O Murray G. Ouellet has been posthumously awarded the Operational Wings of the R.C.A.F. in recognition of gallant service in action against the enemy. His plane was shot down Jan. 30, 1944, 30 miles east of Berlin.

A dinner and bridge party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Liley on April 31 in honor of the later's sister, Mrs. C. Deeks of Alder-who was celebrating her birthday.
 Winners at bridge were Mrs. Joan Stevens and Claud Deeks, with the consolation going to Mrs. D. Casey and Alf Bindrud.
